

We're Hiring!! Concepts In Community Living, Inc.(CCL), a private well respected senior housing management/consulting company, is seeking a Director of Sales and Marketing. This full-time person will be responsible for the development and execution of marketing and sales programs and plans corporate wide. Responsibilities will also extend to on-site community level support and training.

This exciting leadership position works in conjunction with CCL's management team to maintain or increase occupancy and revenue across its managed communities while helping to communicate outstanding service and value. Position requires excellent supervisory and communication skills, project management and public relations experience, and a self-directed, high energy, can do attitude.

Minimum of 5 years proven leadership level experience in a sales and marketing position in the senior housing industry—preferably the assisted living sector--bachelors in marketing, business, or related field, and the ability to travel, a must. Ideal candidates will have experience in multi-site management/consultation, and strong computer, analytical, and problem solving skills.

Qualified candidates are encouraged to send resume and cover letter highlighting required skills and experience via email to employment@ccliving.com or fax 503-255-5929.

Thank you!